AND TEACHER TRAINING OF THE PEDAGOGICAL UNIVERSITY OF KRAKOW

invite you to

THE 1ST INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE
*TEACHER. CHANGE-DEVELOPMENT

Krakow May 8-10, 2023

Honorable Ladies and Gentlemen, on behalf of the organizing committee

we would kindly invite you to participate in the 1st International Scientific Conference Teacher. Change - Development, which will be held on May 8-10, 2023 at the Pedagogical University of Cracow (<https://nauczyciel-zmiana-rozwoj.up.krakow.pl/en/strona-glowna-english/>).

The main goal of the Conference will be, above all, to diagnose teachers' psychophysical condition and competence in relation to socio-cultural and civilization changes, as well as to determine the conditions for their professional development in the context of life satisfaction and professional fulfillment. In addition, an important goal will also be to promote modern scientific thought and research on teachers' place within the contemporary dynamics of change.

Proposed problem areas of the conference may include the areas of knowledge about the teacher in the perspective of socio-cultural and civilizational changes; personal and professional development of teachers; new models of training for the teaching profession and the categories and areas of research on the teaching profession; the direction of excellence in the teacher education system.

The deadline for applications and payment of conference fees is April 15, 2023.

We kindly ask you to forward the invitation to the scientific staff of your University.

We are hoping for your favourable response and we are looking forward to hosting you at our Conference.

Introduction

The 1st International Conference Teacher. Change-Development is dedicated to teachers who function in the world of dynamic socio-cultural and civilisation changes. These changes exert an impact on pupils, their parents, teachers and school institutions. They can be conducive to new activities, initiatives, implementation of plans, and give rise to new, previously non-existent difficulties.

As a consequence, in the face of the observed changes and the inability to confront them, anxiety and uncertainty may creep in, making teachers' work even more burdensome, permeated with fear and maimed by helplessness. Despite numerous studies on school and its reforms, effective systemic solutions are not operational yet. Hence the recurring need for analyses, discussions and continued search for new solutions in the area of teacher's work. The lectures and workshops organised as part of the conference should provide an excellent platform to meet in person and stimulate such efforts.

I. OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE:

1. Diagnosis of teachers' psychophysical condition and competences in relation to socio-cultural and civilisation changes.
2. Defining the developmental prospects in the context of teachers' life satisfaction and professional fulfillment.
3. Promoting modern scientific thinking and research on the functioning of teachers faced with change, as well as on their developmental potential.
4. Searching for optimal conditions for teachers' professional development.

II. PROPOSED PROBLEM AREAS OF THE CONFERENCE:

- A teacher in the perspective of socio-cultural and civilisation changes
- Teachers' personal and professional development
- New models of education for the teaching profession
- New categories and areas of research on the teaching profession
- Towards excellence in the system of teacher training
